Raising Pheasants at Agricultural School.

Fish and Game Associations in Alberta during the past two or three years have been doing much to establish the Chinese pheasants as game birds in the province. Eggs have been shipped into the province and have been hatched by sportsmen and institutions as well.

A year ago nineteen pheasants were hatched on the O. S. A. farm. Of this number, nine were successfully reared during the summer and kept through the winter. Five of the original number escaped from the cage and the other five died for some reason or other. Five hens have been laying this spring and to date 124 eggs have been laid. A setting of eggs hatched on May 19th.

The newly hatched birds very much resemble young turkeys. The ordinary domestic hen will hatch the pheasant eggs and will make a good foster mother for the pheasants until they are a few weeks old. Pheasants grow rapidly and when they are a year old the cock becomes a gorgeously colored bird a little smaller than the prairie chicken. The hen a little smaller than the male, is colored a speckled brown. A pair of the pheasants that escaped from the cage are staying in the vicinity of the O. S. A. grounds.

Farm Women's Week July 14-17.

During the hot weather, in the month of July, many farm women especially the mothers of small children, feel the need of a change and a rest before commencing the extra work which harvesting and threshing always bring. At this time of the year the lawn and gardens of the Schools of Agriculture are usually at their best. The accommodation and comforts provided by the dormitories offer an ideal spot for such a holiday and rest. With this in view, the department has decided to hold a Farm Women's Week at the two schools where there is dormitory accommodation, namely Olds and Vermilion. July 14 to 17th have been selected for the course at Olds.

There is no fee for instruction or entertainment. Board and room rate is $1.50 per day. Travelling expenses to be provided by the individual or the organization.

Indigestion

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Jubilee Impressions

A Few Reasons Why Manitoba Is Holding Celebration

The enthusiasm with which the people of Manitoba are preparing to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of the Province, on July 15 next, might lead an outsider, unfamiliar with our progress and development, to enquire what it was all about. He would need to be told that the Province was formally admitted into the Canadian Confederation on July 15, 1870, and that the present generation was showing its pride and satisfaction at what had been accomplished in the sixty-year period.

The outstanding fact in connection with Manitoba's history as a Province is that her people have practically achieved the impossible in the production of foodstuffs. One need not go far back into the annals of the nineteenth century to find a positive and emphatic declaration of opinion on the country's resources, from a man whose position should have given him the right to speak with authority. He was foolish enough to insist, on more than one occasion, that wheat would never grow in any place more than ten miles from the Red River. His cue was taken up by many lesser "authorities," and the whole territory was apparently doomed and damned as a source of cereal food supplies. What has been the real situation? Manitoba wheat has secured a firm position of leadership in the markets of the world, and has held that distinction for more than forty years. Without desiring to reflect in any way upon the fertility of the Red River district, it may be added that most of the wheat is produced much more than ten miles from that famous waterway. Oats and barley add their testimony in rebuttal of the foolish prophecies of men who should have realized the value of silence. The cultivation of grain, in fact, has provided the foundation for Manitoba's progress. Farmers who knew their business came here from other lands, mostly from Ontario, to take a look at the soil and examine the other elements of crop production. In nearly every case one look was enough. Those who stayed and worked with energy and determination, succeeded in establishing forever the reputation of this Province as a centre of high-class agricultural prosperity. They were not daunted by weird tales of visitations of grasshoppers, drought, frost, hail, floods and all the other torments of the "crape-hanging" era. Nor did they flinch on the rare occasions when they encountered these torments, singly or in combination. They persevered and won through; perhaps they did not realize at the time that they were "achieving the impossible."

The dire predictions regarding the possibilities, or rather the impossibilities, of grain production were repeated and multiplied when it came to the consideration of other items relating to human sustenance. They were, it seems, to be disregarded as possible factors in the economic life of the new Province. Could live stock, for instance, be expected to survive in a land where even the buffaloes, with unlimited grazing areas at their disposal, found it difficult to exist? Absurd, according to the wisecracks of that day. But the agricultural pioneers did not agree with them. They "knew their onions," but they knew even more about their hay and grass, and chopstuffs, and straw-stacks and shelter and stabling. They knew, too, that if a little care were exercised in choosing the proper breeds, and some degree of special attention were accorded the stock during the comparatively short periods of abnormal winter weather, good results could be obtained. The justification of their faith is to be found in the prize distributions at leading stock fairs throughout Canada and the United States during the past thirty years. Manitoba cattle have held their own with the best that could be produced anywhere. It is a matter of gratification to the people of Manitoba that her first citizen, his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, James Duncan McGregor, has risen to his eminent position in the community largely through his success as a breeder of pure-bred cattle. That success has been due to intelligence, persistence, hard work and a refusal to believe that "it couldn't be done."

The story is the same in regard to other phases of farm activity. Who is there among the middle-aged people of Manitoba who does not remember the day when butter from Eastern Canada was considered essential to human existence here? A quarter of a century ago it was almost impious to suggest that this Province should manufacture its own butter. Today the Manitoba product is known and appreciated all over Canada, and in many foreign markets as well. During the past ten years it has won most of the cups and prizes at leading exhibitions in every part of the Dominion, and has set a standard in the manufacture of butter which is a model for creamery-men in all the other provinces. As for eggs, the leading authority in the Dominion is on record with the statement that for excellent flavor and food value the product of the Manitoba hen is invaluable. Honey represents another instance where local achievement in the matter of quality has crowded out the foreign article. The canny housewife who buys a pail or jar of Manitoba honey knows she is getting the best that is to be had. The refusal to lie down or retreat in the face of serious problems has always been a characteristic of Manitoba pioneers, and luckily that fine spirit persists in most of their descendants. Courage, patience, enthusiasm, perseverance and idealism, coupled with a lavish expenditure of muscular energy and perspiration, has gone far towards giving Manitoba so proud a place in Canada and in the Empire. Incidentally the prophets of famine and starvation have been put to shame. That in itself is worth while.—Old Timer.

Slaves Of Habit

Men Would Rather Suffer Than Do Anything Unconventional

Why is it required in summer time that a gentleman wear his coat everywhere except on the golf links or tennis court, or in the swimming pool?

Dignity demands it, some say. Also, it has always been the mark of a gentleman to wear a coat, no matter how ridiculous he looks mopping his face and brow, or fanning himself violently with straw hat or newspaper.

Sports costumes have emancipated women, so far as summer apparel is concerned. Short sleeves, no collars, light and airy materials, loose-fitting straight-line costumes, all help the female of the species, be she flapper or dignified matron, to look cool and comfortable in the eyes of the sweltering man.

Why do not the men declare a little independence in this matter? Returning suspenders are to be worn beneath the shirt, so that dignity need not be sacrificed when the coat is removed. As an office uniform, the coatless outfit should make for greater comfort, increased efficiency and smoother tempers. Why not discard the coat, except when formality or comfort demand its use?

Although man never tires of bantering the opposite sex for being the slave of fickle fashion, there are good reasons for suspecting that men folk would cast aside the coat for the sake of comfort if it were not unfashionable. Husbands gibe their wives for being too conventional and melt under a heavy coat merely because it is unconventional to remove it in the presence of others. —The Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

A Queer Coincidence

Three Commanders Of Trans-Pacific Liners Have "A. J." As Initials

Old sea-faring men say there must be a superstition or something about this "A. J." business among commanders of Canadian trans-Pacific liners. It is somewhat of a coincidence, superstition or not, that three skippers of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services fleet were given the initials "A. J." when they were christened. It started with Captain A. J. Halley, veteran commander of the "Empress of Canada." And then along came Captain A. J. Hosken, of the "Empress of Russia." Now Captain Hosken is on shore leave and the man to replace him is another "A. J." —Captain A. J. Holland.

No Longer a Mystery

New Zealand Trade Commissioner Knows Why Canada Imports Sausage Casings

"Until I went to Canada in 1926, I could never understand why the Canadians spent so much money in importing sausage casings from New Zealand—about 370,000 pounds a year it is now," said Mr. J. W. Collins, New Zealand Trade Commissioner to Canada, at the Auckland Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

"I found the explanation when I landed at Vancouver, and went to a football match. I was accosted by a small boy, who solicited business in these words, 'Hot Dogs, 10 cents. Good for folks.'

"In my travels through Canada I soon came to realize the enormous production and sale of the so-called 'hot-dog,' and I did all I possibly could to increase the production of that delectable food. When I am among the Canadians again, I am going to use my best efforts to induce them to put in a bit of butter with the bread and mustard that always accompany the 'hot-dog.' If they do, it will mean at least another 10,000 tons a year of sausage casings from New Zealand."—Morning Herald, Auckland.

"Not he," said Grandma, "but he must have been made of India rubber to get off as easy as he did. Doctor Carter was just leaving the office, and the man landed right in his lap, so to speak, so he got a patient. I must say, if such a thing had to happen it was nice it happened where it did, on account of the doctor. It was most two hours before the man was fixed up and steady enough to go along. The doctor took two stitches and got paid three dollars. It was a real interesting morning, and four people came in this afternoon just to hear about it. Well, dearie, did Jim tell you the news?"

"News!" echoed Charmian, "I should say you'd told it yourself. You're out of breath, Grandma, with talking so long and fast. I'm sorry to be late, but Jim was going to East-boro and it seemed a pity to miss the ride when the foliage is so beautiful. I wish you could have seen it, too."

She turned toward the kitchen, the impending meal on her mind, but the old lady stopped her with a question: "But didn't he tell you about his mother?"

Charmian came back to ask: "What about his mother? He never mentioned her."

"You must have made yourself extra diverting then," said Grandma seriously. "George K. stopped in, and 'twas he told me the news. It doesn't seem hardly believable—but Sarah Bennett's going to California!"

"To California!" repeated Charmian in amazement. "And leave Jim?"

"My stars!" ejaculated the old lady. "Don't you know that Sarah Bennett wouldn't any more think of going without Jim than she'd think of going without a pocket handkerchief? It seems she hasn't been feeling very well, and Edward Howe thought a warm climate might help her. Her twin sister, Sophie, lives somewhere out that way, and they're going to her. What's more, George K. says if the climate agrees with her, the chances are they'll never come back! Didn't I say it had been an exciting day?"

CHAPTER XVII.

That night when she lay in bed, staring at a crack in the ceiling that showed weirdly bright in the light of the harvest moon, Charmian wondered if the evening meal had been fit to eat. She had gone about its preparation in a daze, wondering why Jim hadn't spoken of this big change in his life—feeling hurt that he wouldn't have confided in her—wondering how Wickfield would seem without her old playmate to drop in of an evening, or to pick her up after school hours as he had today—telling herself vigorously that she wasn't one bit in love with him—admitting in the next breath that she would miss him terribly. The clock in the Town Hall tower struck midnight before she closed her eyes.

Yet it had been a diverting evening because the Merrys had stopped in for a chat with Grandma. Doctor Howe, also, had drawn up before the door, and summoning Charmian outside with his familiar whistle, told her not to worry about her "job," that the school board would uphold her in case of trouble.

"But don't let Grandma hear a word about it," she implored him. "Has the deacon been to you already?"

"Not he!" smiled the old man. "He knows too well whose side I'm liable to take. I heard the story from Jim Bennett. Guess he thought I'd better be prepared. Good-night, child. I won't say a word to Grandma; but you can count on me in an emergency; and, if I know him, you can count on George K., too. Don't lose your sleep."

This short encounter had brought Charmian's thoughts around to Jim, from whom they had wandered during the Merry's call; but they were switched away again by John Carter, who was teaching Grandma three-handed bridge and wanted Charmian's assistance. They sat up till the unheard-of hour of ten!

Yet despite all these diversions, Charmian couldn't rest. Her anxiety about the trouble with Deacon Purdie, and her hurt that Jim hadn't spoken of his plans, were poor bed-fellows. She looked big-eyed next morning, and the doctor said at breakfast: "You didn't sleep well, did you?"

"Do you keep an X-ray machine back of those eyes of yours?" she asked. "No, I didn't sleep—that is, restfully. Our bridge game was too exciting. I felt as if I'd imbibed a pint of coffee."

"I'll drive you to school," offered the M.D.

The girl shook her head. "I'm just as grateful, but I need exercise, and it's a gorgeous morning for a walk."

"I kind of suspect," said Grandma softly, as Charmian left them, going to the kitchen to prepare their lunch, "that she's bothered because Jim Bennett didn't tell her he was going to California. Seems funny, doesn't it? He never said a word about it; and so far's I know, no one else in Wickfield has ever been west of the Mississippi except George K. and Salina. They took a trip on their silver wedding anniversary—a delayed honeymoon, George K. called it, because they hadn't the money to take them when they were married. They went most everywhere—Yellowstone National Park, the Grand Canyon, and San Francisco, though I should think they'd have been afraid of earthquakes."

"Well, Doctor, I wonder will anybody break a neck in front of your office this morning. That accident was fortunate to happen where it did; but I guess if Lizzie Baker had seen the narrow escape her cat had, she'd have had a spasm."

It was not a longing for exercise which made Charmian refuse the doctor's offer of a ride that morning, but a desire to walk off the depression that still persisted. She felt not only depressed, she told herself as she stepped out into the clear October sunshine, but irritable. Why should she care because Jim Bennett had let her hear the news of him from some one else?

"I wish," she scolded, as she passed the portals of the First National Bank, "I wish I could put Jim and his affairs out of my mind for ever and ever!"—which shows that the irritability was not imagined. But this wish, ardent though it sounded, was not to be fulfilled. It was George K. Knowles, issuing from his wide, hospitable doorway, who again reminded her of her old chum.

"Hold on a minute!" he called, as Charmian waved a greeting; and giving his Salina an unabashed and hasty kiss, he fell into step with the new school teacher, although her destination was opposite to his.

"Just wanted to tell you not to

WHY SUFFER FROM YOUR LIVER?

Why be handicapped with unsightly blotches on the face, eyes with yellow tinge and that tired and languid feeling? This indicates a torpid liver.

Headache, Dizziness and Biliousness surely follow. You must stimulate your lazy liver, start the bile flowing with Carter's Little Liver Pills.

They also act as a mild laxative, purely vegetable, free from calomel and poisonous drugs, small, easy to swallow, and not habit forming. They are not a purgative that cramps or pains, unpleasant after effect following, on the contrary a good tonic. All Druggists 25c and 75c red pkg.

worry about the school," he began at once. "The board will uphold you as long as the doctor and yours truly are elected. Just stick to what you know is right, my dear, and the deacon will have to crawl. What'll you do, Charmian, when Jim Bennett isn't here to fight your battles?"

His kind blue eyes smiled at her as she retorted: "Fight them myself, or surrender ignominiously to the enemy." But her rising color didn't escape George K., whose heart was young in spite of his gray hairs, and he said soberly:

"You won't be the only one in Wickfield to miss the boy, my dear. He's fast becoming my right-hand man. His father was my best friend, too—a good man was James Bennett, married to a selfish woman. Salina would take my head off for saying so; but I guess you know the truth. If Jim's father had lived, Sarah would have ruined his life most likely, and now she's doing her best to ruin Jim's."

"He should stick up for his rights, then," said Charmian coldly, and lifted her chin the least bit higher.

George K. cast upon her a sidelong glance.

"Did you ever live in the house with Sarah Bennett?"

"Did you?" Charmian countered.

"No, thank God!" George K. exploded, "but I know her kind. They break the spirit after a while, Charmian, and Jim, poor boy, has known no other close companionship. Sometimes I wonder how he's kept his sense of humor and his kind heart. Well," as they reached the corner where Main Street turned off toward District Four, "I'll be late at the bank if I escort you any farther. You'll remember not to worry."

"I'll remember, Uncle George," she answered gratefully, "and—thanks."

To Grandma the morning seemed to drag. John Carter had left shortly after breakfast, and even the R.F.D. man was behind time, so couldn't he brought was an advertisement! Grandma tossed it scornfully into the waste basket, and wished that something interesting would occur.

"Seems as if Wickfield was never so still before," she complained aloud. "All I've seen is Lizzie Baker hanging out her dish towels, and Mr. Merry hurrying home from the post office with the paper. The children haven't had any fights, or the dogs, either! Here come an auto. I do believe it's Jimmy, and he's stopping."

She was right. Jim drew up before the door, got out, kicked a suspicious looking tire, and then came in.

Only One Restriction

Inquiry has been made at headquarters of the World's Grain Show, Regina, as to whether or not the number of exhibitors from any one province or state is restricted. There is no restriction whatever to the number of entries in any of the competitive classes except that an exhibitor will be allowed to make not more than one entry in any one class.

Showed Canada's Efficiency

Opening Day At Antwerp Exhibition
Found Building Complete To Last Detail

"Canada scored signally in the early weeks of the International Exhibition at Antwerp, and continues to lead and dominate the Fair," said E. T. Noltie, Director of Exhibits (Department of Immigration and Colonization), Canadian Pacific Railway, on his return from that exhibition, which still has six months to run. "The reason for Canada's prominence," Mr. Noltie explained, "is Canada alone of all the participating countries, had her building set up and finished, inside and out, on time. Not only that, but the whole area of the Canadian Pavilion was complete in the last detail of lawn and walks, shrubbery, hedge and flower beds. The whole ensemble, in fact, was a striking achievement which, in a singular manner, gave an impression of efficiency that was decidedly a feather in Canada's cap."

WHEN YOUR CHILD IS FEVERISH

Give Him Baby's Own Tablets

The health of babies and little children is subject to rapid changes. Thus the mother must be on her guard. At the first sign of feverishness Baby's Own Tablets should be given—this may avert a serious illness.

Concerning the Tablets Mrs. Norman Lee, Uxbridge, Ont., says: "My little boy, now three years old, was not at all well. He was feverish and had no appetite. I gave him Baby's Own Tablets and he was soon well again. I would not be without the Tablets as long as there are young children in the house."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Little Helps For This Week

"That ye love one another."—John xxv. 17.

Give thy heart's best treasures,
From fair Nature learn;
Give thy love, and ask not
Wait not a return.
And the more thou spendest
From thy little store,
With a double bounty
God will give thee more.
—Adelaide Anne Procter.

The beautiful law of Christian love, life, and truth is, that the more we give of our own capital the more that capital increases. The widow's cruse of oil and barrel of meal increased as she distributed them; and a Christian's sunshine and happiness, faith and hope, will be invigorated and multiplied in proportion as he tries to make others hopeful, trustful, and happy.—John Cumming.

The use of Miller's Worm Powders insures healthy children so far as the ailments attributable to worms are concerned. A high mortality among children is traceable to worms. These sap the strength of infants so that they are unable to maintain the battle of life and succumb to weakness. This preparation gives promise of health and keeps it.

HOPE TO ABSORB

ALL UNEMPLOYED

Canadian industry is following closely the progress of unemployment relief legislation adopted by the Government of the United States, it is stated by government officials at Ottawa. So far, though the unemployment situation in Canada has reached the serious stage, no comprehensive attempt at relief has been made.

Press dispatches from the United States show that the whole country is aroused to the problem and that determined efforts are being made to remedy it. Large public works and construction schemes have been undertaken in order to produce employment. With the advance of the season it is expected that the jobless American will be reabsorbed in his old pursuits, said James J. Davis, United States Secretary of Labor, recently.

"It is absolutely necessary to our national prosperity," said Mr. Davis, "that we set before us as a goal regular employment, at liberal wages for all our working population."

REVOLUTIONIZE FARM FINANCING SYSTEM

Agricultural financing will be put on an entirely new footing and all the countries of the world will be forced to adopt new policies towards their farmers if measures recently adopted by the United States government prove to be successful.

It is now possible for farmers' cooperative organizations to borrow government money for their operations. President Hoover is prepared to go to unprecedented lengths with his farm aid policy and a vast fund has been set aside for this purpose.

COURT ASSUMES THE RIGHTS OF PARENTS

OTTAWA.—Canada's attitude towards its delinquent children has undergone a radical change during the past thirty years, government records here show. All legislation recently placed on the statutes affecting the treatment of such children has set up a method of procedure which is declared to be distinctly beneficial in its effect.

All delinquent children are now regarded to be in need of the care and protection of a juvenile court. This court assumes the rights of parents who are unwilling or unable to discharge their obligation. Social investigations are made by probation officers. Physical and mental examinations are made by experts.

Scientific treatment with regard to education and guidance is held to be more effective than discipline and punishment.

HALF A MILLION RADIO LICENSES

OTTAWA.—Over 15% of Canada's farm houses are today equipped with radio receiving sets, it is stated by Commander C. P. Edwards, Director of Radio Service in Canada.

DAIRYING IS MOST LUCRATIVE BRANCH

OTTAWA.—Dairying is the most lucrative branch of farming over a long period of years, it is announced here after a detailed study of the agricultural industry.

Figures compiled in the United States were used as a basis of the calculation.

Comparing the year 1927 with 1919 it became apparent that the grain farmer received in 1927 only 54% of his 1919 incomes; the fruits and vegetables producer 83%; the meat animal producer 85%. The dairy and poultry producer received 101% of

DEPARTMENT'S ADVICE ON WATERING TREES
Transplanted trees should be watered thoroughly twice a week rather than daily, the Department of Agriculture advises in a statement just issued. A mulch of straw or leaves around the bottom of each tree helps to conserve the water supply in the soil. This artificial watering should be continued during dry periods for two or three years after transplanting.

ITALY INCREASES HER DUTY ON WHEAT
OTTAWA.—The steady restriction of markets for Canadian wheat was given further impetus this month when Italy increased the duty on wheat from this country to 86.7 cents a bushel. This increase was made despite the existence of a favored-nation treaty between Italy and Canada. Thus Italian products are admitted to Canada under the intermediate customs rate, though Canada enjoys no preference in the Italian wheat market.

Italy is now in line with the majority of European countries, most of which have in recent months placed prohibitive import duties on Canadian wheat. The highest rate now effective against Canadian wheat is that imposed by Germany, 97.4 cents a bushel.

Lands have been annexed by fire and sword, but the west coast of Vancouver Island has the unique distinction of being won by a song. The Spanish admiral who led an expedition against it in 1790, so charmed the heart of the warlike Maquinna, Lord of the Nootkas, with a theme song which he caused his merry men to sing over and over until the chief was placated, that the Indian made him welcome and gave him jurisdiction over the Sound and the Islands. Since that date the coast of Vancouver Island has become the rendezvous of tourists from all over the world. Within easy reach of Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, it yet offers the attraction of territory quite unspoiled by industrialism and a paradise of beautiful scenery and fruitful sport. As it was when the Spaniards first sighted it, so it virtually is today. Canadian Pacific steamships of the British Columbia Coast Service travel up and down this coast, and make it easily and comfortably accessible to visitors. Lay-out shows Canadian Pacific coastal vessel "Princess Norah" sailing among the islands off the Vancouver Island coast; lower left, Indian parade in village and totem pole with Lord and Lady Willingdon and Captain Jack, Indian Nootka Chief.

An Encouragement To Progress

The subject of immigration has for many years been a live topic in Canada, and never more so than during the past year or two. There is, however, this difference, that whereas for many decades the discussion of the subject was largely as to ways and means whereby a large volume of immigration could be secured, in more recent years the thought of our people has rather been directed towards the successful colonization of the new comers.

That is to say, where at one time the main objective was to get immigrants in large numbers to settle upon our vacant lands, the main objective now is to see that those who do come make a real success of their venture, adapt themselves to the new environment in which they find themselves, and, by associating themselves with the life and activities of the communities in which they locate, identify themselves with Canada and become Canadian citizens in thought and aspiration as well as in name.

To a greater extent than ever before native-born Canadians, and those of our citizenship who call the British Isles "home," have come to realize and appreciate the fact that immigrants coming to Canada from lands other than those under the British flag or speaking the English language, are really, even keenly, anxious to become Canadians in the full meaning of the term. Appreciation of this fact is helping to break down old barriers of prejudice, and the English-speaking Canadian is becoming more and more anxious to co-operate with and assist his fellow-Canadian or foreign extraction.

In a recent issue of this paper there appeared an article in the news columns outlining a plan originated by the Canadian National Railways, under the direction of Dr. W. J. Black, the directing head of the departments of Agriculture and Colonization of that system, having as its object the encouragement of community progress and development, and the attainment of the fullest possible measure of Canadian citizenship by those rural communities of the three prairie provinces which are of European origin.

The plan is simple, but far-reaching and of tremendous importance. It involves the carrying out of a series of competitions among such communities, to be held annually for a period of five years, with three substantial prizes, of $1,000, $500, and $250 respectively, to be awarded each year in each of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta on the understanding that the money be utilized in community work of some progressive nature.

In other words, such of these rural municipalities or groups of school districts within municipalities in which the population is made up of people of continental European origin of the first or second generation, which display the greatest interest in co-operation among themselves to promote education, public health, and a better class of agriculture, and show the best results, will be awarded these prizes, which, in turn, are to be used in still further promoting progressive community betterment.

The community which through the co-operative action of its people shows the best schools, the most regular attendance of pupils, the largest percentage of children going on for secondary or university training, which takes the keenest interest in matters of public health, social welfare, music, arts and handicrafts, which enthusiastically supports community organizations such as agricultural societies, co-operative marketing pools, women's institutes and home maker's clubs, libraries, etc., or which evince the greatest interest and reveal the greatest progress in the improvement of agricultural methods, will be the winners of these substantial prizes.

But the greatest gain to such communities will not be the winning of the prizes, but in the direct and indirect benefits which will accrue to each individual and the community as a whole from the practice of these worthwhile things. The prizes are, after all, but an additional incentive to work for the welfare and advancement of the community which the people therein call "home." The prizes are but a tangible encouragement to excel all other communities in real constructive Canadian citizenship, to demonstrate through a determination to make use of and emphasize the best Canada has to offer in the development of their particular section of the Dominion.

F. E. Trautman Was C.P.R. Publicity Representative For Many Years

Fred E. Trautman, 66, for almost a score of years publicity representative of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the west, died in Winnipeg recently. He had been operated on as result of a blood poisoning condition and failed to rally.

Mr. Trautman, born in Pennsylvania, worked on newspapers in the eastern United States and at Fort William, Ont., before he came to Winnipeg in 1912 as Canadian Pacific Railway publicity man. In taking the position with the railway under Sir George Bury, he was the first railway press representative in the west.

His territory, through which he operated since his appointment, extended from Winnipeg to the Pacific coast and included a portion of the western United States.

Ocean Bed Is Changing

Shipping Has Been Endangered By Upheavals In Pacific

Strange things are happening in the murky regions of the ocean bed. In the Pacific the bed has been rising so much that shipping has become endangered. Off the west coast of Nicaragua the charts show an ocean depth of 222 feet, but the figure is now actually 2 feet. Another sounding showed the actual depth to be 51 feet where the chart showed 1,608 feet. Sudden upheavals on the ocean floor recently worked havoc among the telegraph cables; many of the stoutest were snapped like string, including one of the latest, which normally takes five different sets of messages at once in each direction. When a break occurs the cable ship goes out; delicate apparatus aboard shows the break within two yards of the actual spot, and dragging commences. Up comes the cable. A new length is inserted to make the join, and so critical is the actual work of joining the strands inside that the film of grease on a man's hand can actually prevent the join from being effective.

BRIGHT EYES ROSY CHEEKS*The Birthright Of Every Girl

Dull eyes mean misery and weakness—a sure sign of a bloodless condition. Anaemic girls and women have dull, heavy eyes with dark lines underneath. The bright eyed girl or woman is always happy and well.

There is one way to make the eyes bright—to bring the glow of health to pale cheeks—that is to invigorate the body with new blood—rich, red health-giving blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do this and they do it well. Concerning them Mrs. Robert Devitt, Brougham, Ont., says: "My daughter became so ill and nervous we had to take her out of school. She was pale and thin; her eyes were dull and the least exertion upset her. I began giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in less than six months you would not know her. She gained in weight and strength and is now the picture of health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Man Who Travelled With David Livingstone Gets Pension

As the result of an appeal for funds to aid Matthew Wellington, the faithful servant of David Livingstone, the explorer-missionary, he is assured of an income of $5 a week for life. Wellington is 85 and lives at Mombasa, Africa, so that the pension will care for his simple needs. Matthew was with his master at his death, helped to embalm the body, and accompanied the coffin from the wilds to the African coast. The response to the appeal from Scotland was gratifying, and the money is now being sent to the old man through the Resident Commissioner of Mombasa.

Praise For Canada

Of all countries in the world, Canada is the best place to live in at the present time, declared Lord Willingdon, Governor-General, in a recent speech at Ottawa. No country had a brighter future than Canada, His Excellency said, and in a very few years the Dominion would go forward to increased prosperity. In his recent visits he had been struck by the evidences of more satisfactory farming conditions than he had witnessed since coming to Canada.

An attempt to blow up the tomb of Peter Veregin, the Doukhobor leader, who was killed in an explosion in a railway coach in 1924, was revealed at Nelson, B.C., by the finding of a bomb planted beside the structure. A miscalculation in the timer failed to explode the dynamite.

Extensive Program Has Been Arranged For This Season's Work In North

The growing importance of Canada's Far North is indicated in the extensive program now being arranged by the Department of the Interior through its North West Territories and Yukon Branch for its work in the Territories during the coming season. The activities and projects contemplated include arrangements for the reception and establishment of the Government reindeer herd, the enlargement of the medical service, the organization of the warden patrol in Thelon Game Sanctuary, the extension of the 1930 voyage of the Department's expeditionary ship, and the opening to prospectors of the Coppermine mineral reserve.

During the coming year most of the areas in the Northwest Territories where there are trading posts and settlements will be under active medical surveillance. Dr. Livingstone, senior medical officer, has already left for Churchill from which point he will travel by dog team to Chesterfield, where the Department of the Interior has built a house for his accommodation. He will visit all the Eskimo settlements en route. With Chesterfield as a centre, Dr. Livingstone will be in touch with Baker Lake and the other important posts in the districts on the west side of Hudson Bay. He will remain in charge of this post until the arrival of the Department's patrol ship "Beothic" early next autumn, when he will be replaced by the ship's doctor. Dr. Livingstone will return to North Sydney on the "Beothic" and will later proceed to Fort Smith, N.W.T., which is the Department's headquarters for the District of Mackenzie. At this point there is a large mission hospital, and he will take over the duties of the retiring medical health officer and have general supervision of the medical work of the district. The scattered nature of the medical work in the Mackenzie delta and Arctic coast to the east and west, under Dr. J. A. Urquhart, stationed at Aklavik, has necessitated improved means of transportation, and to meet this a motor hospital boat has been built at Edmonton and with the opening of northern navigation will be taken to Fort Smith. From this point it will proceed under its own power to Aklavik and at the same time carry Mr. J. F. Moran, chief inspector, on his annual tour of the Mackenzie district. Other departmental medical officers in the Territories are Dr. R. D. Martin, at the mouth of the Coppermine, and Dr. H. A. Stuart, on Baffin Island.

Preparations for the reception of the reindeer herd of 3,000 head, now on its way overland from Alaska, which will arrive early in 1931, will be completed this year. Mr. R. T. Forsild has arrived at Aklavik by aeroplane and will supervise the erection of corrals and buildings on the range east of the Mackenzie delta.

The Coppermine mineral reserve will be opened for staking on July 1, and Major L. T. Burwash, who made an inspection of this field in 1929, will go in by aeroplane early in the season so as to be on the ground as soon as possible. Later, if conditions permit, he will fly to King William Island to carry on further investigations with regard to the fate of Sir John Franklin.

The organization of the regular patrol of the Thelon Game Sanctuary for the protection of wild life, particularly the musk-ox, will be completed this year. Mr. W. H. B. Hoare, who returned last autumn after a twenty months' investigation of the area, will go north to superintend the erection of warden cabins at the east and west ends of the sanctuary and the establishment in the reserve of wardens and native helpers.

This year's cruise of the Department of the Interior's expeditionary ship "Beothic" will be slightly different from that of former years in order that she may enter Lancaster sound after the ice has moved out. If conditions then permit she will proceed to Winter Harbour, Melville Island and renew the supplies in the cache established by Captain Bernier, of C.G.S. Arctic, in 1908-9, which proved of such service to the northern party of the Canadian Arctic Expedition of 1913-18, and to Inspector Joy of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police during his notable winter journey of 1,800 miles, in 1929.

In addition to her usual work in carrying relief personnel and supplies to the various posts in the Canadian Arctic archipelago, the "Beothic" will take to Lake Harbour, on the southern shore of Baffin Island, sufficient lumber and supplies to erect a house for a resident officer there. This house will be occupied for the next two years by Mr. and Mrs. J. Dewey Soper. Mr. Soper will continue his investigations respecting the blue goose and its nesting ground, will survey certain parts of the shore line, and make observations in regard to terrestrial magnetism. Mrs. Soper, who is a trained nurse, will be of great assistance in cases of illness among the natives.

The services above mentioned are, it will be noted, nearly all additions to the administrative work of the North West Territories and Yukon Branch, which has been steadily growing for many years, and they show both the increased interest which citizens are taking in Northern Canada and the forethought which the Department of the Interior is exercising to ensure that the needs of the Territories will be adequately met.

Built First Automobile

Andrew Lawrence Riker, 81, designer and builder of the first gasoline-propelled locomobile, died recently at Fairfield, Conn. ### Prospects For Good Trade

Fresh Milk Would Find Ready Market In Orient

Canadians of all classes are accustomed to a fine quality of fresh milk. Most of them will be astounded to learn that there are countries where such milk is not available even to people who are ill. It is another revelation of our luxurious privileges that are just taken for granted in a rich country.

Having learned that some of our surplus products of the dairy might meet a crying need in the Orient, Canadians will prudently seek to discover if some business can be done in supplying the need. It requires fourteen days for a liner to carry the milk across the Pacific to Shanghai in refrigerators. Indications are that it can be done successfully. It has been transported to London in good condition. Both China and Japan are short of milk. There is an opening for Canadian export that would be very welcome among peoples who are rapidly adopting our diet. It demands skillful executive work to place Canadian products on the distant Oriental market, but even expensive experiments offer prospects of lucrative trade, and that is what will build up this country.

Rust Expert To Visit England

Dr. Craigie, Of Winnipeg, Will Spend Year In Study

Dr. J. H. Craigie, head of the Rust Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, is leaving at the end of July for England where he will deliver a paper in connection with his rust investigations at the International Botanical Congress, which is being held at Cambridge in August. Dr. Margaret Newton, of the Winnipeg Rust Research Laboratory is also attending this conference and will later visit various investigation laboratories in Britain and the continent.

Dr. Craigie plans to spend the next year at Cambridge and the other institutions studying their work and methods in connection with plant diseases; while Dr. Dillon-Craig, of Cambridge, will visit the Winnipeg institution in a similar capacity for the coming year.

Dr. Craigie was recently awarded his doctor's degree at the University of Manitoba, his thesis being on his work in connection with the discovery of sex in rust fungi. His work in this connection was considered the most outstanding achievement in connection with rust investigation that has yet been accomplished.

Cattle In Prize Class

The highest individual price and the highest average price for the cattle from any one contributor at the recent National Holstein sale at Toronto, were secured by the six animals sent by the Canadian Pacific Supply Farm at Strathmore, Alberta. A four-year-old heifer from the herd brought $1,525, the highest price of the sale; while a young bull brought $675, the highest prize in the bull class. The six animals averaged $658 as compared with $327 for the average of the 64 animals vended at the sale.

Deaths in civil aircraft accidents in England last year totalled 33.

Increase Of Wild Life In Canada's National Parks Proves Sanctuaries a Success

A dispatch to the Commissioner of National Parks, Department of the Interior, from A. Bryan Williams, Game Commissioner of British Columbia, announces the safe arrival of the carload of elk recently shipped from Buffalo National Park, Wainwright, Alberta, to the Queen Charlotte Islands. The animals are a donation by the Dominion to the Provincial Government for restocking purposes on these islands. They were captured from the wild elk herd, now numbering over 600, roaming the Buffalo reserve and were particularly fine specimens of their kind. They were cut out of the main herd by the park riders, corralled until safe to handle, and then placed in specially constructed crates. Through the co-operation of the Canadian National Railways, a special baggage car was provided which was attached to the regular passenger train for Prince Rupert, and went through express to that port. Here the elk were transferred to a boat sailing to the Queen Charlotte Islands. No loss or injury was sustained in transit and according to the report the animals are already settling down and adapting themselves to their new surroundings.

The successful transfer of wild animals as large as these by rail and water for over 1,000 miles was in itself an achievement; but the greatest interest attached to the undertaking lies in its significance from the conservation point of view. A scientific philosopher has described this era as the close of the age of mammals. From every part of the world in the last quarter of a century have come reports that wild life was being destroyed at a far greater rate than it could reproduce itself. The inevitable spread of civilization, with its concomitants—the breaking up of land, draining of swamps, felling of forests and many other operations—has been destroying the world over, the natural homes of big game. In recent years, too, the forces of destruction due to mechanical invention and greater facilities of transportation have increased enormously, and disastrous inroads have been made in many species.

A few years ago there was organized in England a conservation movement known as the Society for Preservation of the Fauna of the Empire. Its president, the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Onslow, in reviewing the depletion of wild life throughout the Empire today, stated that the only satisfactory method of ensuring the preservation of wild animals in the far distant future is by the formation of sanctuaries or the establishment of national parks. As an example of what could be accomplished, he cited the policy of the National Parks of Canada.

It will be recalled that about twenty years ago the national parks of this country were made game sanctuaries not only in name but in fact. An adequate system of warden patrols was established and the regulations rigidly enforced. As everyone knows the results have surpassed the most sanguine anticipations. Sheep, goat, bear, elk and deer, which had practically disappeared from these regions, have now come back in such numbers that the parks have become the wild life reservoirs of the West. The British Columbia Government has been drawing on them to restock its own depleted game areas. Two regions in the southern part of the province in recent years have been stocked with Rocky Mountain sheep—that much prized trophy of the sportsman. Two or three years ago a herd of elk was also shipped from Buffalo park to re-stock areas between the Okanagan and Kettle valleys. The National Parks of Canada have also been able to furnish from their increasing stocks, big game animals for zoological exhibits or as nuclei for conservation experiments in various parts of the world.

These results prove clearly the truth of Lord Onslow's contention in a recent report, that an ultimate world bankruptcy in wild life need not be accepted as inevitable. While adequate protective measures, he pointed out, will help to maintain the stocks, it is only through the creation of national parks such as have proved so successful in Canada, that the final rescue of many species can be assured. Canada, he declared, is setting an example in conservation to other countries and its abundant success is a happy augury of what others may achieve.

Scottish Ayrshire Export Trade Grows

Canada and States Taking Large Consignments Of Cattle

Scotland is rapidly developing an important export trade in Ayrshire cattle, the country's native dairy breed. The other week a consignment of 19 pedigree beasts, mainly from Ayrshire, was sent to Ontario, Canada.

Hugh Bone, secretary of the Ayrshire Cattle Herd Book Society, says that the export trade has increased greatly in last two years. He added: "We have exported 173 head of Ayrshire cattle since the end of March, and as the average price is between £90 and £100 a head it is obvious that the trade is a very valuable one. Last year we presented 30 head of Ayrshires to the University of British Columbia to form the nucleus of a herd there, and since then two more consignments have gone there. Canadian and American dairymen are the best foreign customers for Ayrshires. They find that our cattle can produce milk with a higher butter fat content on small rations. Three Ayrshires can thrive on poor land where only two cows of other breeds could."

Faint heart never won fair lady. Nor did it ever get away from one.
